HOT WORDS PASS BEFORE COUNCIL

University Regents and Federal Heights Residents Indulge in Personalities.

COUNCILMEN TAKE A HAND IN THE FRACAS

Plat of New Addition Is Cause of Ruction, Which Is Not Yet Settled.

Personalities were indulged in freely between representatives of the University of Utah and the Federal Heights district before the City Council's Committee or Engineering Thursday night, A. M. Wrench and Attorney E. C. Lanckner, representing the Federal Reights residents, declared that the University, in pents, declared that the University, in opposing the adoption of the Federal Heights plat, was pursuing a "dog-in-the-manger" policy, and Waldemar Van Cott of the board of regents of the University versity was accused by Mr. Lackner of being lacking in public spirit.

The University is protesting against the acceptance of the Federal Heights plat because it does not provide for the extension of East First South street along the north side of the University grounds. Instead of this extension. Federal Heights itself will about squarely against the University grounds.

Wrench Made Offers.

It developed during the hearing that Mr. Wrench had tried several times to reach an agreement with the University whereby a street narrower than First South would be put through, offering to donate baif of the street and pay for its grading and improvement. This was rejected by the board of regents.

Mr. Van Cott and Mrs. C. S. Klinney, representing the regents, together with Dr. J. T. Kingsbury of the University, were present to protest against a plat which would place the backs of houses loward the University. Mr. Van Cott, who made the first speech, declared that there has always been a street along where the University is now insisting that one shall be maintained.

Mr. Wrench in reply accused Mr. Van Cott of willfully misstating facts to the committee. He denied further that there had ever been a street there, and pointed out that the city, under the terms of his purchase of Federal Heights, is entitled to a fifty-foot right of way across the property at a given point. To give the city this, and to dedicate, enough ground to extend First South street at the same time would, he said, cost $30.500, and he said it was not to be thought of the presonalities Are Exchanged.

Personalities Are Exchanged.

After Mr. Wrench had explained at some length the various efforts he had made to reach an agreement with the University so that a narrower street could be placed there by each party giving some land for it, Mr. Lackner took the floor. He shurply declared that Mr. Wrench had been insulted by the regents and almost ordered out of their meetings.

Continuing, Mr. Lackner pointed out that Federal Heights was coming to the city with paved streets, curbing and guttering and all other improvements with put cost to the city. Apparently, he said, his was not appreciated. He said the University was pursuing a "dog-in-the-manger" policy. manger" policy.
"We have found," said Mr. Lackner,
"that some people here are not public

"Name them," interposed Councilman Black, who made no secret of his sym-pathy with the University project, "Well, I might mention Mr. Van Cott in that connection," declared Mr. Lack-

Mr. Black retorted that eights faction had singled ttack every time it had Mr. Black retorted that the Federal Heights faction had simpled him out for attack every time it had been before the Council. He refused to accept any disclaimer. He and Councilman Fernetron took decided ground in favor of the University project. They both accused the Federal Heights people of resorting to underhand methods.

Councilman Martin, on the other hand, was inclined to agree with the Federal Heights people. With considerable satesan he declared that this being the first time a completed and fully improved addition had ever offered to come into the city it seemed to take some people's breath away.

"They do this in other cities," said Mr. Martin, "but this is the first time it has been done here. Fernitsrom has lived here so long that he doesn't know how they do in up-to-date cities."

There was a long discussion of the matter, and several side issues were ligged in. Councilman Fernstrom declared that the Federal Heights people could not enforce that provision in their deeds which dictates the quality of houses which shall be crected on the lots. This statement was evoked by a declaration from Mr. Lackner that no unsightly sheds or outbuildings could be built on the backs of the lots toward the University, because of the provision in the deeds. There was a legal discussion on this point.

There was a legal discussion on this point.

There was also a discussion as to the city's water mains now laid in the plat, and as to whether or not they would have to be moved to conform to the plat. Finally it was decided that the Council should view the disputed ground next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

When it was suggested that the regents should go along, Mr. Van Cott protested. He resented Mr. Lackner's "dogin-the-manger" suggestion, and declared that under the circumstances he did not care to accompany Mesers. Lackner and Wrench. Mr. Lackner tried to disclaim any personal reflection, but Mr. Van Cott wouldn't be pacified.

"If the City Council should conclude, however," sald Mr. Van Cott, "that the University should give some of its land to make a street I think such a recommendation by your body would be given very great consideration."

CURFEW ORDINANCE PLEASES THE CITIZENS

Citizens of Salt Lake are co-operating with the police to enforce the curfew ordinance recently invoked by Chief Mc-Kenzie. No arrests were made Thursday evening. Several persons telephoned into the station expressing their satisfaction with the manner in which the blowing of the whistle had tended to clear the streets. One woman, whose boy was a little tardy in returning home appealed to the police, asking that they hunt him up and send him home as quickly as possible.

Several corners in the residence district are used as congregating points by boys in the neighborhood, and here until late at night the boys play games and build bonfires. This disturbs the people living near these corners. The police will next go after these gangs and do their lest to break them up, even though it he a little before the blowing of the curfew whistle, if the boys become too bolsterous.

Advises Against Parcels Post as in Interest of Mail Orders.

Secretary John A. Green of the National Retail Merchants' association addressed a good-sized audience of Utah business men at Barratt ball Thursday evening, on the necessity of organization and the parcels post. As the speaker regarded association work as the only offective means of combating the matiorder houses in their fight for the parcels post, the two subjects naturally Mr. Green seemed to consider the mall-order houses as being the implac-able enemies of the small grocer-enemies which if not combatted by the or-ganized retailers would ultimately bring about the destruction of all small con-

Hucksters' Licenses.

Last Saturday the Real Estate association prepared a petition to the City Conneil asking that some action be taken which would enable the bucksters to carry on their bushess in Salt Lake City. After an address by Conneilman Fernstrom, who is himself a grocer and ias always conducted his business in harmony with the Butchers and Grocers' association, the petition was referred to the License committee with the request that representatives of the Real Estate association appear before the committee. Thursday evening and explain why rents are so high in the city. The representatives were not selected and consequently no message was sent to the Council committee by the association. The Butchers and Grocers' association, on the other hand, volunteered a committee, or at any tale the president was histracted at a meeting Wednesday to make such provision.

When asked to explain the action of the Real Estate association one of the officers said.

"We are not going before the Council committee because we think that we have nothing to defend. If the Butchers and Grocers' association has nothing to fear from an investigation, why does it appoint a committee to appear before the License committee without invitation from the City Council? Isn't it reasonable to suppose that the request for an investigation of the affairs of the association by a Council committee was made for the purpose of diverting attention from the point at issue—the prevailing high price of food products?"

Turning to the subject of the work of a grand fury, the speaker said that the Real Estate association was ready and willing to appear before such a body and was prepared to show "a clean bill of health." The scale of prices adopted by the association had nothing to do with fixing rents. This was especially true in regard to the rents charged for business structures—the rents about which the butchers and grocers had been complaint.

The exceptions were in the isolated cases where the landlord was a non-resident. And in all instances of this kind, he explained that the real estateman must consult the property-owner before he could consent to a change in the terms of the lease.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan will have rooms at the Idanha hoislyan will have rooms at the Idanha hotel. The Ladies' Democratic club of Boise will look after the entertainment of Mrs. Bryan while here. The Oregon Short Line has made a rate of one and one-third for the round trip for the meeting, and it is expected that thousands from over the State will avail themselves of the low rate and attend. It is predicted the meeting will be the largest one of its kind ever held in Boise.

The City Council of Meridian, located a few miles west of Boise, at a session last night passed an ordinance prohibiting saloons within the city limits, to take effect October 1. An anti-saloon fight has been in progress there for some time and this is the culmination of it. Siste workers in the anti-saloon league have been there adding in the fight, which has been a bitter one. A test case on the constitutionality of the State law licensing saloons will no doubt result.

An application for a change of venue in the Stave Adams case has just been made at Wallace by the State, asking that it be taken to Latah county. This move is being fought vigorously by the defense. It will be remembered that Adams was tried last year at Wallace, charged with the murder of Fred Tyler, and the jury disagreed. On this charge he is to again be tried.

The fortieth annual meeting of the grand lodge of Masons will open here next Wednesday and remain in session three days. About one hundred delegates and many visitors are expected to be in

LITTLE'S DEATH BARES HIS POLYGAMOUS LIFE

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Sept. 5.—It has developed in the past few days that William H. Little, the aged proprietor of the Central hotel, who died suddenly while sitting in a chair in his own hostelry on Tuesday. August 17, and who was the father of eleven children, was also the husband of two wives, both of whom are living. Also that he was a Mormon and, of course, a polygamist. He was a native of the South and was converted to the Mormon faith and brought his first family here, becoming an active member of the Utah church. In time he took unto himself another wife, and she bore him children. Some years since he was called on a mission of two years' duration to serve in the Southern States, and took with him, not his zecond, but his first wife, who was known in the South, but at the expiration of his service, it is said, he left his first wife there, and practically abandoned her.

The second wife was in Ogden and is now in possession of the lease of the Central hotel, with its furniture, and is ng the views of Secretary Taft on mal policies. Mr. Bryan declared that onstitution of the proposed new State even better than that of the United St. Bryan called Mr. Taft the "great oner," and declared that he favored reform only by postponement.

The second wife was in Ogden and is now in possession of the lease of the Central hotel, with its furniture, and is conducting the business, and proposes to continue in its conduct and assert and sets her rights, as the widow of Little. But the first, the legal wife is said to be in Ogden, and a contest for whatever estate Little left is expected. Each wife will maintain the fight for herself and her children, but the records of the Utah courts show that a plural wife has no legal rights in this State.

James Peterson Convicted.

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Sept 5.—In the District court today in the case of James Peterson, charged with criminal assault on his stendaughter, Ella Conrey, 15 years old, and with the paternity of her child, born last, July, the mother of the girl and the wife of Peterson, while on the stand, gave testimony that was calculated to throw the responsibility on others, and told horrible stories of the conduct of her daughter. The attorneys on both sides repudiated her testimony and the case was given to the jury at 3 o'clock, after extended arguments. At 4:30 p. m. the jury rendered a verdict of guity, and Judge Howell announced that he would impose sentence on the defendant. Special to The Tribune. would impose sentence on the defendant on Monday at 10 o'clock. On motion of District Attorney Halverson, the court fixed the bond of the defendant, which had formerly been $100, at $1500.
